Grand jury considers Hacke murder case

Early reports of after-prom fracas incorrect

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Possible charges in the shooting death of a 20-year-old Granite City man are expected to be considered by a Madison County grand jury today.

Frederick Hacke was shot by a 16-year-old Madison youth after

GRANITE CITY Hacke and other members of a gang known as the Lynch Mob allegedly attempted to force their way into the youth's home during a party early Sunday morning. Earlier reports that the party was a post-Granite City High School prom party turned out to be inaccurate.

Ballistics tests determined that bullets from the youth's gun, and not an off-duty Venice police officer who responded to the scene, struck and killed Hacke.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said the case would be presented to the grand jury today and that he expected some kind of resolution by the end of the day.

Haine said his office declined pressing charges because of the possibility that the shooting may have been justified. "The facts, as we have received them to date, indicate that (Hacke) was a part of an aggressive group of men who entered the home of the shooter and they did it several times," Haine said. "He (the shooter) is in his own home, they make tumultuous, violent entry several times, they assault the shooter, he reaches for a gun, but he's within his own home."

Haine said the legal test will be what is "reasonable" under the circumstances. "It's very difficult for us to find probable cause to charge the 16-year-old," he said.

Suspect pleads guilty

Smith faces up to 45 years in prison in Stell killing

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

A Granite City man who dumped his victim's body in the Chain of Rocks Canal - and who later tried to kill himself in jail - pleaded guilty Tuesday to first-degree murder in Madison County Circuit Court.

GRANITE CITY Christopher A. Smith, 27, faces up to 45 years in prison under the terms of his plea agreement with the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

He and co-defendant Jerry L. Champion, 24, were accused of killing Paul E. Stell, 40, on April 4, 1996, in a dispute about advances Stell made to Smith's girlfriend during a party at Smith's apartment.

Both suspects unsuccessfully attempted suicide soon after their detention at the Madison County Jail. Champion, however, tried a second time and was successful - hanging himself Aug. 18.

Champion, who lived near Lebanon in O'Fallon Township, was the primary culprit in the killing, owing up to his involvement in a written statement before his death, said Smith's attorney, assistant public defender Billy Hahs.

"Smith's role in this is minimal, really," Hahs said.

Hahs said evidence would have shown that Stell met up with Champion and

Hundreds of volunteers rehabilitate homes in Tri-City area

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

Seventeen homes in the Tri-City area were rehabilitated Saturday, thanks to hundreds of volunteers from the local chapter of the Christmas in April campaign.

The organization, consisting of skilled and unskilled laborers, rehabilitated a majority of the homes for the elderly and disabled.

Eleven were rehabilitated in Granite City, as well as one in Edwardsville, Collinsville, Venice and Troy. Two were also rehabs in unincorporated Madison County.

The organization recruits volunteers. They, in turn, distribute and collect applications from potential beneficiaries, select appropriate projects, acquire materials, assign house captains and crews and organize the event.

Butch Wojtowicz, executive director of the Tri-City area Christmas in April chapter, said since the organization's founding in 1963, 68 homes have been rehabbed (exclud-

Anonymous calls invited at (888)656-5500

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

A hot line established by Madison County officials to handle anonymous calls from students who are concerned about violence in their schools should begin ringing today.

Darrell McGibany, Madison County's director of probation and court services, said final arrangements were being made Wednesday for the hot line, a direct response to last week's school shooting in Littleton, Colo., that left 15 dead.

"The kids already know what's going on," McGibany said. "Now the adults need to."

Once again, we see your tax dollars at work

Government incompetence shouldn't really surprise us

I lay no claim to economic expertise. Rather, I count myself lucky that I can balance my bank statement, figure interest, and more or less stick to my budget.

Fiscally conservative. Like most people I know, basically honest but a lightweight when it comes to money.

After watching two separate reports on a recent "Dateline NBC," some of those who run our government may not be much better.

Carol Clarkin

The first concerned the U.S. Coast Guard, which is trying to get the authority to fine repeat offenders who they have to rescue, time after time, from their own folly.

I was surprised to learn they didn't already have that legal power, remembering my only experience with such a rescue when at the age of 17, one of their patrol boats from the St. Joseph/Benton Harbor station tried to haul my cousin and I to shore after we'd capsized several miles out in Lake Michigan.

My super-macho cousin had ignored the weather warnings posted at the yacht basin, considering himself on a par with God and nature, and apparently, many sailors continue to do the same.

At the time, I wasn't aware of Joe's record with these men, but they'd towed him back many times before and had notified his parents that if he continued to cause them problems, my aunt and uncle would be facing some healthy fines.

Apparently these were hollow threats, but Joe and I believed they had such authority. They should have.

The second "Dateline" report was much more important, again dealing with the federal government. I've seen no printed stories about it, but a spokesman for the U.S. Department of the Treasury was interviewed on the TV show and confirmed the show's allegations that a whole bunch of our federal employees either don't file or don't pay their federal income taxes.

These miscreants work for varying departments of our federal government, including the Postage, some quite close to the White House (not Clinton or Gore, of course; we've already read how THEY paid on '98 income), and of all people, some from the Internal Revenue Service, which as we all know is part of the Treasury Department itself. The Treasury interviewee noted that his department is conducting an investigation of the whole mess.

Estimates of the number of guilty employees range from 3 percent to between 6 percent to 7 percent in varying departments.

Sounds as though nobody's watching the store down there in good ol' D. of C.

This has to be bad news to the IRS itself, since it currently is engaged in a campaign designed to change the bureau's own public image from boogiemann to nice guy. To convince us ordinary taxpayers that "audit" means just a friendly chat, not a session strapped to the rack in the company of inquisition judges.

Assuming this report to be true, and the man from Treasury pretty much convinced me, I somehow doubt that the general public is going to be thinking of the IRS as gentle, kindly or compassionate.

"Arrogant" and "threatening" will continue to be the applicable adjectives.

Plus, perhaps, "inept"?

Carol Clarkin of Edwardsville is a retired reporter.

Being safe in the water a must for all

Some common-sense procedures could help save your life

By Lori Fuller

When I think of summertime, I remember splashing in the pool with friends, going fishing with my dad and taking family canoe trips. What could be better on a hot summer day than cooling off in refreshing, crystal-clear water?

Unfortunately, each year, a few family outings end tragically with a usually preventable drowning or near-drowning incident. Last year, seven people drowned in such incidents in Illinois.

What should you do to make sure your family stays safe around water? There are three keys to a safe outing: preparation, prevention and, if necessary, rescue.

• Get all family members used to water. Take them to a local pool and orient them in a very structured setting. It is important to make sure everyone is comfortable around water, even if they are not swimmers.

Swimming lessons are a great way to get children and nonswimming adults comfortable with the water. It takes years of lessons and practice to become an accomplished swimmer, but learning the basics such as floating or treading water often can be enough to keep someone afloat until help arrives.

• Talk to your children. Stress the importance of not going off on their own. Even if they are good swimmers, children fully clothed may not be able to swim to safety. Make sure everyone knows and understands the rules of boating, fishing or being around a pool or lake. After you tell them the rules, you must enforce them consistently.

• Keep small children away from water unless supervised. This means no farther than three feet away from you. It only takes a few seconds for a toddler to find something interesting floating in the water and fall in reaching for it.

Whenever possible, swim in a supervised area. The safest places to swim are those where lifeguards are present. Lifeguards are very vigilant and responsible in most cases, but accidents happen in guarded pools, too. If you are leaving a non-swimming child under the supervision of someone else, make sure that parent is aware your child cannot swim.

• When boating, always wear a Coast Guard-approved life jacket. If you wait until the boat starts to sink before you put on your jacket, you could be in trouble.

• Be aware of water temperature. If the water temperature is too cold, your muscles will not react normally and may not be able to get you to safety.

No one—not even the best of swimmers—is totally safe around water. Don't assume your children are "drown-proof" just because they took a few swimming lessons. Even good swimmers can become disoriented and panic when thrust in to an unfamiliar or unexpected situation.

The American Red Cross offers a Whale's Tales program designed to teach water safety to school children. Their suggestions are simple:

- Swim with a buddy in a supervised area.
- Be cool, follow the rules.
- Don't just pack it, wear your (life) jacket.
- Look before you leap.
- Think so you don't sink.
- Reach or throw, don't go.
- Cold can kill.

• Learn about boating before you go floating.

Following these guidelines can prevent most tragedies.

So, what do you do if an accident does happen? Have a plan and make sure everyone else knows it. If at all possible, take a cellular phone with you. When packing for your outing, make sure you have items that will be easily available in an emergency and teach the kids what to do with them. The first thing they should do is call for help. Tell a parent or lifeguard.

Too many times, we hear of one tragedy turning into two because a poor swimmer entered the water to save a friend and then there were two victims.

A towel or blanket can be used to reach someone close to the edge. A fishing pole, large stick or canoe paddle can be used for the same purpose. If someone is farther out, you can use a beach ball, basketball or nearly empty milk jug (with the lid on) to throw to someone in trouble. Better yet, keep a milk jug with you attached to a 25-foot rope so you can pull the person in.

Other things you can use: the top to a large cooler can be used as a kickboard; a small cooler will float and can be grasped easily; and an old tire can be thrown as can a life jacket. Once you get help to a person in trouble, you have to tell them what to do. Tell them to grab on and kick to you.

Whatever you do, never go in after them. When managing a pool in Michigan, I was asked why we teach non-swimming rescues to children who were taking their first swimming lessons.

I told the instructor it is to make them aware of the hazards around water and teach them to be safe should a friend get in trouble. The next class after she taught the rescues, one boy came bounding in to tell her his sister had slipped in to the lake and he pulled her out doing what he learned in class. They both came out of the incident scared, but unharmed.

Make water safety a family project before you go on your first trip, and everyone will have more fun and feel more at ease.

SEMC kicks off Wings drive with breakfast at Gateway

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

St. Elizabeth Medical Center kicked off its eighth Wings Campaign Tuesday morning with a breakfast at Gateway International Raceway in Madison.

Loren Davis, chairman for the 1999 Wings campaign, spoke about the annual drive to approximately 40 people during the breakfast. Money raised during the campaign will be used to help provide medical care for patients who do not have a job, income or insurance. The care is provided through Koch Family Health Center, which is affiliated with SEMC.

Last year, 17,000 people received medical care at the center, of which nearly half were children. In addition, more than 2,100 children were immunized and more than 280 referrals were made for additional hospital services, which included physical therapy, dietary counseling, diabetes education and social services.

Also supported is the certified nurse-midwife program, which was started last year. The program attended to more than 135 mothers, with 48 babies being delivered. The deliveries resulted in more than 800 pre-natal and post-partum visits.

John Mohl, director of community relations at SEMC, said that each campaign has been a success because of the tireless work performed by "campaigners," those who seek out businesses, civic leaders and individuals for financial support.

"We raised $175,200 last year," Mohl said. "The money raised is extremely important because of the enormous health care problems that people in our community face."

"The Koch Center is trying to respond to help those in the community whose needs are not met."

Bottoms development leading to severe Mitchell flooding

Board member calls for temporary moratorium

By Paul Mackie
Staff writer

Rapid development in the American Bottoms is a major cause of recent flooding in the steps to dam the problem.

Madison County Board member Patricia Polley, D-Granite City, called last week for a halt on development until someone claims responsibility for the drainage canal commonly called "the Mitchell ditch."

"We need to address the needs of the ditch," she told fellow board members. "It's been in no man's land. We're going to try to get a lot of people involved and have a meeting in the near future."

Polley said members of the regional stormwater committee, the Illinois Department of Transportation and the county's building and zoning and highway committees may meet to discuss who should maintain the Mitchell ditch.

The ditch runs from Old Poag Road south under Chain of Rocks Road and west along Interstate 270 before flowing into Long Lake and Horseshoe Lake and eventually emptying into the Mississippi River.

"(Municipalities on the top of) the bluffs pump water to us. Why should we pay to put it back into the river?" Polley asked. "We may need some kind of regional stormwater drainage system."

Mitchell resident Rich Mueller said he is concerned about what he calls "a massive increase in recent flooding" of Mitchell properties and streets.

"All the water from the fields goes into the ditch. It flows to the north side of Chain of Rocks Road and all the way up to lots of people's front doors," Mueller said.

Although Mueller said he is not opposed to development, he warned that the flooding only will get worse with the possibility of more large industrial construction in the area. He said the Dial plant has been a major contributor of water runoff.

He estimated that the 47-acre Dial property creates 1.3 million gallons of runoff water, much of which has nowhere to go, for every inch of rainfall.

"It will take an empty one-acre pond four feet deep for every inch of rain to hold the runoff from the Dial property. It's not unusual for this area to get three to four inches of rain at a time during the spring," Mueller said.

Mitchell can't fight to maintain the ditch because it remains an unincorporated area within Madison County.

Meanwhile, Mueller said he had been concerned that the county or any other governmental entities would refuse to take responsibility for the ditch.

But when an issue dealing with construction at the Gateway Commerce Center came up for a vote during Wednesday's board meeting, Polley spoke up and was able to delay the construction for the time being.

"Before we get additional development, we need to address the needs of the ditch," Polley said. "The county's never been asked to take responsibility."

Since the meeting, Polley said the county's Buildings and Zoning Department has been researching the question of who owns various easements along the ditch. She said the county's Land Use Committee has arbitrarily issued building permits in the flood area and now needs to review how it handles such procedures.

Polley also questioned the effect of Dial's water runoff on the Mitchell area. She said Dial actually pumps most of its water north to Old Poag Road into a ditch owned by Madison County.

Grand jury getting Hacke murder case

Squad, said Wednesday that they were wrapping up their investigation and preparing for the grand jury.

Police said the dispute apparently stemmed from an earlier incident that evening at the party in the 1800 block of Rhodes, in which Hacke was "disrespected" by someone.

Nonn said Hacke apparently left, but came back later with more people. After a brief altercation in which members of the Lynch Mob allegedly assaulted the 16-year-old and another person, the people inside the house locked the door.

At that point, gang members allegedly broke down the door and broke several windows in an attempt to enter the house. At some point, the 16-year-old obtained his father's handgun and started firing.

Madison police received a call about a large fight at the party from an off-duty Venice police officer, who was working security at a nearby QuikTrip in Madison.

That officer and another plainclothes security officer at the store drove over to the house. While en route, the Venice officer told investigators that he heard several gunshots.

When he got out of the car, the Venice officer said he saw someone fire several shots in his direction. The officer identified himself, then returned fire after another shot was fired.

The shooter, later identified as the 16-year-old, then ran back into the house, apparently getting rid of the gun, and came out again and surrendered.

While police were sorting out the incident, the next-door neighbor came up and said there was a body in her front yard.

Four gang members who allegedly attempted to break into the house have already been charged.

Larry M. Jordan, 20, of the 2300 block of Lincoln, Jason A. Coors, 17, of the 2300 block of Grand Avenue, Shawn D. Holt, 22, of the 3000 block of Sunbury, and Jeffrey M. Estrada, 21, of Perigan Lane, all of Granite City, were each charged late Monday with one count each of home invasion, a Class X felony. Bond was set at $250,000 for each.

"He said, 'I just can't thank those men and woman enough for what they've done.'"

The crew began at 8 a.m. and worked throughout the day, as did all volunteers for the Christmas in April campaign.

The organization was founded in 1973 in Midland, Texas, to help low-income, disabled and elderly people in the Midland-Odessa area of west Texas rehabilitate their homes.

"It doesn't mean that it can't be any kid at any time, just saw," McGibany said.

McGibany said the Columbine High School incident was a result of the two young perpetrators' inability to deal with their problems.

"They didn't deal with their issues," McGibany said.

While profiling may help identify students who pose a risk of violence and who have very obvious problems, not all may be so obvious, McGibany said.

"They could be experiencing a divorce in their family or maybe a break up with a boyfriend or girlfriend," Ganschietz said.

"We expect it to be mostly kids who don't want to say a heck of a lot," McGibany said. "That doesn't preclude others (such as parents or teachers) from using it to avert whatever tragedy could possibly happen."

McGibany, who has worked as a probation officer and is a former juvenile detention superintendent, has seen first hand what can happen when troubled youth go unchecked.

Collinsville High School Principal Ron Ganschietz said one way to identify those students might be through "profiling," something that could be incorporated into teachers' on-the-job training.

"They could learn to identify certain behaviors, as when a student is angry or frustrated, and might be indicative of some kind of violent action," Ganschietz said.

CHS already has programs in place such as peer mediation and the Student Assistance Team, Ganschietz said.

"The usual knee-jerk reaction is to get metal

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes landlords contact this office and indicate that the tenants have stopped paying rent. They wonder what procedure must be followed in order to evict a delinquent tenant. Many property owners inquire about whether they can take matters into their own hands in having the tenant removed by changing the locks or shutting off the utilities.

In one recent case, a man owned an apartment building, and one of the tenants was three months behind in rent. The landlord had made repeated demands for rent payments, but the tenant had continually refused to pay due to a lay-off at work. The owner in this case had an extra set of keys to the apartment, and he wanted to know if he could remove the tenant's furniture from the apartment.

In another situation, a man owned a rental house, and the lessee had not paid rent in four months. In this case, the property owner had the utilities listed in his own name. Because the tenant refused to move despite repeated demands, the landlord wanted to have the utilities shut off in the middle of winter. He asked whether such an action would be appropriate given the circumstances.

Illinois law provides that a property owner cannot take it upon himself to evict a tenant without obtaining a court order. If a landlord removes furniture, turns off the heat, or changes the locks, this is known as constructive eviction. If a lessor does not go to court to have a delinquent tenant removed but rather takes matters into his own hands, he faces the possibility of a civil suit for wrongful eviction. What procedures should a landlord follow when a tenant falls behind in the rent? The landlord in this situation would need to serve a notice on the tenant. If the tenant does not leave at the end of the notice period, the landlord will need to file an action in court known as a Forcible Entry and Detainer. Ultimately the property owner will obtain a judgment for possession, which will require the tenant to move within a specified period of time. If the renter still does not vacate the property, the sheriff will come and forcibly remove the delinquent tenant. For a landlord to attempt to remove a tenant by his own methods without benefit of a court order is foolhardy since this could result in civil liability under Illinois law.

Whitaker marks six years as City Clerk

these days because I have a competent, hard-working staff and a computerized system."

Before Whitaker became city clerk, she was a fourth ward alderman from 1985 to 1994. In April 1994, Granite City Mayor Ron Selph appointed her to the clerk's position. She said she was honored, but realized that she had tough shoes to fill after previous city clerk Bob Stevens retired.

"I knew the job would be a challenge due to the fact that it was occupied for 25 years, but I love a good challenge," Whitaker said. Another challenge she has is the weather is pleasant, she said, she often heads straight for it after work. A total of 15 trees and a variety of flowers, all of which she has planted and attends to, encompass her cozy home.

"It's not easy to get the flowers to grow. In fact, it's hard work, but there is nothing more refreshing than hearing the birds chirp and feel the sun's rays. That's why I like gardening so much," Whitaker said.

Whitaker also said she likes to spend her time with a fishing pole tucked in her hand. Like most good-natured fishermen, she said, she too, has a story. "I caught a really, really big one three years ago. When I began to reel it in, the line somehow got stuck in my hair. I lost my fish and some hair. The line had to be cut," Whitaker exclaimed.

Whitaker, who has lived in Granite City for 39 years, is an angler extraordinaire, but her husband, Walt, a member of the Granite City School Board and a long-time high school wrestling coach, is not.

Walt and Judy have been married for 38 years. They have a son, Mark, 34, and a daughter, Kristy Jo Bassler, 32, as well as grandson, Tucker, an energetic two-and-a-half-year old, who keeps her on her toes.

Whitaker is a member of the Granite City Lions Club, Holy and Family Catholic Church, Granite City Eagles Auxiliary 1126, the Granite City Elks, the Illinois Municipal Clerks Association and Madison County Police Association.

"I'm a people person," she said.

testified to the evening's events, Hahs said.

Some of the group decided to go four-wheeling along the nearby canal. When they returned, they learned that Stell had been making advances to Smith's girlfriend, Hahs said.

Smith slapped Stell, and Champion immediately came after Stell with a tire iron, hitting him over the head several times.

Stell, who lived in Granite City, was unconscious when the men carried him to Champion's truck and drove him to an island near the levee where they had been four-wheeling earlier.

Champion took Stell from the truck and tied him with a rope to the back bumper before dragging him a short distance and becoming stuck in mud, Hahs said.

Police Blotter

Granite City Police

DUI: Timothy Briggs, 34, of 3109 Myrtle, was charged Monday evening with driving under the influence.

According to a Granite City police report, Briggs was driving recklessly along Benton and Adams streets. He swerved in and out of traffic, almost striking numerous vehicles about 8 a.m.

He was pulled over at Benton Street shortly afterward, in which the responding officer proceeded to give him a sobriety test. Briggs, according to the report, held on to the side of his vehicle to keep his balance and almost fell several times. He was taken into custody and his car was towed.

THEFT: Todd Biggs, 24, of 2601 East 24th St., was charged early Monday morning with theft.

About 3:33 a.m. Biggs pulled into the Amoco service station on Madison Avenue to fill his car with gasoline. Afterward, he allegedly sped away.

He was pulled over on Illinois 203 and Nameoki Road about 10 minutes later, where he was arrested and taken into custody.

DUI: Eduardo Vences, 22, of 2330 Iowa, was charged Monday with driving under the influence, illegal transportation of alcohol and not having a F.O.D. card. He was charged Monday with unlawful use of a weapon.

Eduardo, according to a Granite City police report, was driving a Camaro along Edwardsville Road about 6:50 a.m. when he struck another vehicle. The driver of the vehicle that Vences struck was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was later released.

Vences, the report stated, became trapped in the front seat and had to be extricated by the Granite City Fire Department, which arrived at the scene about 7:02 a.m. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center about 8 a.m., where he was treated and later turned over to the police.

While being treated, a 22-caliber handgun was found in his possession. Vences was given citations for driving without a valid driver's license, driving while uninsured and for improper lane change.

BURGLARY: A burglary occurred Monday evening at a laundromat in the 1400 block of 19th Street. Numerous video games and a small amount of money were stolen about 7 p.m. A Granite City police report stated that someone broke a rear window to enter the establishment. The items stolen were valued at $1,125.

BURGLARY: An apartment was burglarized in the 2500 block of Parkview April 27. The burglary occurred about 7:51 a.m.

Items stolen were a diamond wedding ring, a camcorder and an answering machine, all of which were valued at $2,700.

Venice Police

UNLAWFUL USE OF A WEAPON: Venice police are investigating an incident in which an unidentified youth fired a handgun at two other people near the Venice Homes area Saturday morning.

According to police, at about 11 a.m., police received a 911 call about a man shooting at two people in a car.

Before officers could respond, the two victims came to the police station and said a they had been shot at.

GC aldermen barely pass metal structure ordinance

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

By an 8-6 vote, aldermen passed an ordinance at Tuesday's Granite City Council meeting that would allow certain types of metal structures to be built in residential areas. Those that do not conform could only be constructed in areas relating to agricultural or manufacturing. Metal structures have been a topic of debate among council members since February, when Granite City Mayor Ron Selph overruled an earlier decision by Zoning Inspector Glen Hobbs and granted permission for Granite City Foursquare Gospel Church to build a new pre-engineered metal structure on East 23rd Street, near Lake School, to use as a new facility. A debate ensued for a short time on what was and was not considered a pre-engineered metal structure.

Aldermen who voted in favor of the ordinance were Casmer Skubist, Craig Tarpo, Kim MacTaggart, Nick Petrillo, Bob Cook, Sandy Shaw, Pat Davis and Eddie Asadorian. Those voting against were Foster "Freddie" Frederick, Bob Page, Lurton Pulley, Brian Puzessery, Leo Wofford and Mac Warfield.

The ordinance, according to its wording, will maintain the integrity of the city, preserve its character, provide a safe, clean, comfortable environment and protect the value of citizens' property.

City Attorney Keith Jensen, after answering several structure-related questions, told the council how the ordinance applies to metal structures.

"It still allows for metal roofs and still allows for metal siding. But to be used residentially, it must have horizontal siding and steel fasteners," Jensen said.

Tourism Fund subject of motel owners talk with Pontoon board

Manager: 50,000 people stay in, benefit village

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Representatives of Pontoon Beach motels asked the Village Board to take a serious look at how the tourism fund is used.

PONTON BEACH Pam Kaskeski, general manager of the Super 8 Motel on Timberlake Drive, said the motel owners were willing to provide assistance to help the village promote itself.

Kaskeski said about 50,000 people stay in Pontoon Beach motels each year.

"We feel it is important that we take a look at the Tourism Fund," she said.

The fund has $169,672.66 in it and can be used to promote tourism within the village. It is generated by a tax on motel rooms.

For the most part, the only real use has been as a place to borrow money for other funds. However, the board recently approved spending $4,500-6,500 to design a web site to advertise the village's hotels and motels. About $1,500 has been spent so far.

Kaskeski pointed out that the village has access to a web site through the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

No action was taken by the board on the issue.

The board also occurred with a recommendation by the Board of Zoning Appeals to allow a setback variance for the Pontoon Beach Church of Christ.

The church, located at 4039 Pontoon Road, sought a waiver of the property line setback to allow construction of an attached garage.

Several residents objected to the original request, but the Zoning Board approved a modified request for a smaller building and setback.

The Village Board also approved three business licenses.

Edward Giese was granted a license for Video Magic Inc. at 1 Oakmont.

A tentative license was also approved for Jeff Bekroski of Edwardsville for Brothers Family Restaurant Inc. at 4112 Pontoon Road. Later, the board was told that the restaurant must receive approval for food service from the Madison County Health Department before the license is actually issued.

A business license was also granted to Terry Manion for a remodeling and carpentry business on Iris Court. This request had been tabled from the last meeting because of concerns over zoning, but was approved after being told no actual business would be conducted there.

Suspect in toddler's death proclaims his innocence

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

A suspect proclaimed his innocence Saturday in the sexual abuse and death of a Wood River toddler, who he says succumbed to a heart defect.

Kevin J. Trimm, 29, of Alton said he is in no way responsible for the child's death and was forced to find out from authorities last week that the 27-month-old child had been a victim of sexual abuse before she died Dec. 6.

Illinois State Police obtained blood from Trimm during a meeting with him at the Alton police station Friday. The blood sampling had been authorized by a search warrant after laboratory tests confirmed that semen had been found in the child's body; an autopsy showed she had been raped.

"I do know when the DNA comes back, it's not going to come to me. I'm 100 percent sure of it," Trimm said. Trimm is the boyfriend of the child's mother, who lives in the 800 block of Halloran Avenue in Wood River. He and the mother were with the child early on the morning of Dec. 6 when the girl stopped breathing. She was rushed to Wood River Township Hospital and was pronounced dead about an hour later.

Trimm said the child had been showing flu-like symptoms, including vomiting, before her death. When she stopped breathing, he began administering cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

"She died in my arms. I loved her like my own child; it was really hard on me," Trimm said, although the coroner's office has declined to comment about the cause of death.

Quoting from a coroner's report and the death certificate, Trimm said the girl suffered congenital heart failure. Specific listed reasons were cardiac dysarrhythmia (erratic heartbeat); multiple subendocardial fibrosis (scar tissue); and hypoxia (a lack of oxygen supplied to body tissues) that occurred at or near the time of birth, he said.

Trimm was not the child's father, although he does have a son by the girl's mother. He also has one other son.

The girl's mother declined to say much Saturday.

"I'd prefer not to comment until I can find out what's going on," she said. Authorities have been unavailable for comment about the case. Trimm has not been charged, but he said he has been

"interrogated" several times about the circumstances of the death.

The first — and most intense — questioning came from officials with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services within days of the child's death, he said.

"DCFS took my kids from me for about six weeks. They were waiting for the autopsy to come back to clear me on that," Trimm said.

He said he received a letter from DCFS April 2 that appeared to clear him.

"We have determined the report (of abuse) to be unfounded," he quoted the letter from the Springfield office of DCFS as saying. "When I got the letter, I thought the case was closed," Trimm said.

Then, State Police showed up at his door while he was gone Thursday and left a note saying they wanted to arrange a meeting with him Friday. That turned into an interview and the blood sampling at the police station, he said. It was during the course of the interview that he learned about the sexual abuse, he said.

The police search warrant indicates that the State Police Crime Lab confirmed the presence of semen in the child's body April 16.

Police have told Trimm that the results of the blood test won't be known for at least two weeks.

Warriors both finish second at county meet

Stapleton and Ridgeway post first-place finishes

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The Granite City girls track team put together another strong performance Monday in the Madison County Meet but fell short of beating Edwardsville. The Warriors' 126 points were 30 shy of the victorious Tigers, but well ahead of the rest of the pack. Highland had the next best score with 118 points, followed by host Collinsville (78), Alton (56), Triad (53), Roxana (34), Civic Memorial (24), Metro East Lutheran (23), Wood River (19), and Madison (7).

"The strong second-place finish was a very satisfying result for the girls program," Granite City coach Gene Briggs said. "The girls placed in all 18 events, so in every event we scored points. We had a lot of top finishes."

The Warriors had two county champions. Shannon Stapleton won the 400-meter dash and Amber Ridgeway was tops in the long jump.

The first-place finishes were buttressed by a number of seconds and thirds.

"Our 4x800 relay team (Sarah Tester, Denise Mueller, Faith Yurcinis and Penney Meyer) was second; our sprint medley relay team (Ridgeway, Sarah Kushnel, Nicole Bellman and Stapleton) was second," Briggs said.

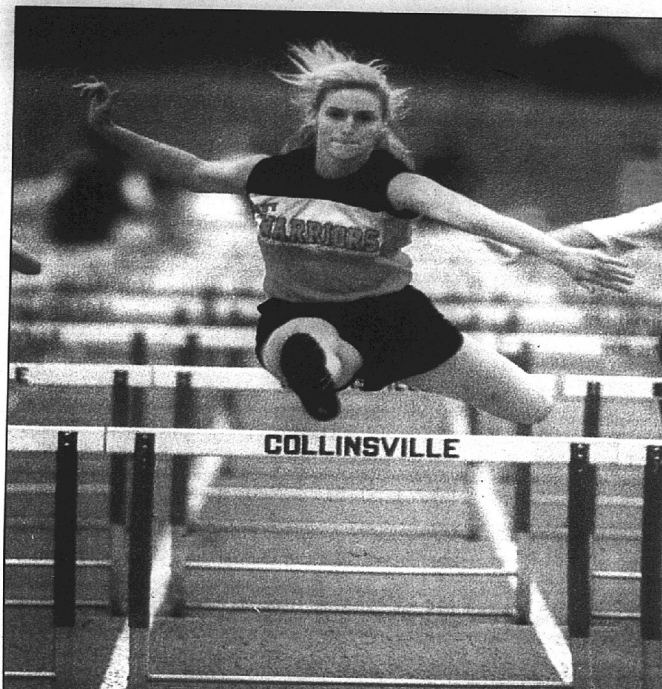

Amber Ridgeway was second in the 100-meter hurdles. Sarah Tester was second in the mile run.

"And then we also had five third-places, which also are big points in a big meet. That was the 4x400 relay team (Yurcinis, Tabitha Duff, Nicole Rider and Stapleton), Alisa Monroe in the discus, Melissa White in the high jump, Amber Ridgeway in the 300-meter hurdles, and Nicole Bellman in the 200-meter dash.

"And mixing in the points you get for first, second and third put us in a good position to finish high in the meet. We did have additional fourths, fifths, sixths and sevenths too, but it was the big points from the top finishes that allowed us to finish so high as a team."

The Warriors' latest finish was a continuation

Skirball, Atkins, Schroeder lead Warriors boys

The Granite City climbed within one spot of the county championship at the Madison County meet Tuesday at Collinsville.

BOYS TRACK

Alton took the crown with 133 points. The Warriors were second with 129 points. Collinsville was third with 105 points, followed by Edwardsville (98 points), Wood River (67 points), Roxana (39 points), Highland and Triad (tied with 38 points each), Bethalto Civic Memorial (20 points) and Madison (3 points).

The Granite City girls had placed second Monday, placing in all 18 events.

"The boys were equally impressive," Granite City coach Gene Briggs said. "They also placed in all 18 events and we got in good place. Once again, the reason for the great team performance was having athletes in every event that scored points, and in many of the events we had both athletes entered score points."

"In the discus both of our athletes scored; in the high jump both of our athletes scored; in the triple jump they both scored; in the long jump they both scored; in the mile and 300 hurdles, they both scored; 800-meter run and 100-meter dash, they both scored. So the majority of events we not only got places, but we got multiple places."

The Warriors boys had three county champions: Rich Skirball won the 400-meter dash; Kevin Atkins won the 1,600 meters; and Steven Schroeder won the 110-meter high hurdles.

"We complemented that with a number of second-place finishes," Briggs said. "Our 4x800 team (Chris Mertz, Skirball, Jeremiah Beckley and Atkins) was second. We were second in the 800-meter run (Atkins), second in the 300-meter hurdles (Mertz). Then we had some strong third-place finishes. Our 4x200 relay team (Josh McElduff, Jim Treackle, Brian Kilman and Rich Evans) was third; our triple jumper (Jeremy Hunter) was third. But we were

Granite City places fifth at O'Fallon Invitational

The Granite City track team got the most out of what it had entered in the Freshman Invitational at O'Fallon last Friday afternoon.

FRESHMAN BOYS TRACK

"We had both good and bad," Granite City coach Gene Briggs said. "The bad was that we didn't have too many freshmen. We had close to 18 originally, but we were down to 12 and sometimes it is hard for the younger athletes to stay with the commitment that it takes to be part of the track program. You are required to be there every night after school since

Warriors ranks are depleted but still very effective

the beginning of February. We do have meets that make the season exciting, but a lot of times, with the consistency of practice for so long, they don't always stick with it. So we have had a few freshmen drop by the wayside, but the 12 that we do have left are very good. One of those 12 was unavailable because of a funeral, so we went to the meet with only 11. Using just those 11 athletes, the Warriors finished fourth out of eight teams. O'Fallon (140 points), Salom (110 points), and Edwardsville (80 points) topped Granite City's total of

79. The Warriors finished ahead of Mount Vernon (63 points), Triad (30 points), Belleville West (29 points) and Collinsville (9 points). "We felt we did pretty well," Briggs said. "The teams that we finished ahead of had many more freshmen than we did. Even though our depth as far as numbers wasn't so good, what was good were the outstanding performances that we got from our freshmen. We had a number of them get first place. Our 4x800 relay team (Corey Powell, John Lance, Jim Treackle and Kenny Jackson) got first. We also had our 4x200 relay team (Brad Bolt, Rich Evans, Treackle and Ty Derousse) get first. We had a first place from Mike Vivod in the shot put, and Mike also got second in the discus. We had a first place in the 300-meter hurdles from Jim Treackle. "We had some second-places. We had John Lance second in the 400-meter dash. We got a second place from our 4x400 relay team (Lance, Treackle, Jackson and John Bracamontes). We got a third-place finish from Brad Bolt in the open 200, a fourth-place finish from Rich Evans in the high jump and two fifths — in the mile by Kenny Jackson and in the 4x100 relay (Bolt, Evans, Derousse and Mike Fisk).

So even though we only had 11 athletes, we scored well in a number of events. We were able to get all four relays in and that's because the kids were willing to do multiple events and even doing lots of events, they still finished well in the events, that they had.

So there are things that we can say that are very encouraging about our freshmen. They performed well against people their own age. They

Reader likes her role as Warriors' leader

Warriors junior catcher orchestrates pitching staff, stands out at the plate

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City junior catcher Jessica Reader is spending this rain-soaked spring season at the top of the Warriors' offensive leader lists.

PREP SOFTBALL

Reader also rates high in admiration from Granite City coach Deb Germann.

"She is consistent, hard-working, there every day, willing to work every day," Germann said. "As a catcher, she is intelligent, smart, calls a good game. We talk about how to work the batters inside, outside, their strengths, position in the order and that kind of thing. She is very knowledgeable. She has played a lot of ball, too. She plays a lot of select during the summer and puts a lot of time and effort into it. She is a kid who should go on to play someplace (in college). I'm not sure where, but if she maintains what she is doing right now that shouldn't be a problem."

Reader takes her defensive role seriously. "I direct the pitcher," Reader said. "I call the pitches and if she is having trouble, I usually go out there and talk to her. I'm usually sort of the leader of the team and I do my best with that. Sometimes our pitchers get kind of down so I have to go out there and try to help them."

Beyond her duties behind the plate, Reader excels in the cleanup spot in the Warriors' lineup. Through 11 games, Reader is leading the team with a .406 batting average and a .531 slugging percentage. She has scored six runs, driven in six, and only struck out six times. But the statistic that stands out is her five stolen bases, most on the club.

"It's very unusual that she is leading the team in stolen bases," Germann said. "That's very unusual to have your catcher lead you in stolen bases. So that tells you that she is pretty aggressive. She is selective with her pitches. She just works hard at what she does and she stays focused."

Fairmount Park hosts Derby Day festivities

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Fairmount Park will take on a bit of southern flavor Saturday afternoon for the 225th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky.

HORSE RACING

Mint juleps will be part of the atmosphere at the racetrack in Collinsville.

"We're planning for a little over 3,000 fans depending on the weather," Fairmount Park general manager Brian Zander said. "If it is a decent day, we'll plan for 8,000 and that is just about all this place can handle."

This year's strong Kentucky Derby field will add to atmosphere at Fairmount Park, which will open its gates at 11 a.m.

Two of the Kentucky Derby jockeys — Pat Day and Shane Sellers — have ridden before at Fairmount Park. Day, the winningest jockey in Churchill Downs history, will ride Menifee while Sellers will ride Vicar. Menifee is considered one of the pre-race favorites after his victory in the Blue Grass Stakes on April 11. The victory was his fourth triumph in five career starts.

"The story to watch is owner Bob Baffert," Zander said. "He is trying to become the first owner to train three Derby winners in a row. He's got two colts in the race — General Challenge and Prime Timber — and maybe one philly, Executive Meeting."

"Stephen Got Even won the Galleryfurniture.com Stakes, which used to be the Jim Beam Stakes. He'll be a good price with a realistic chance of winning. It will be a heck of a race."

The actual derby race at 4:27 p.m. is one part of the festivities at Fairmount Park. The racetrack will have its own 11-race live card beginning at 12:30 p.m. The Kentucky Derby is the ninth race on the card.

Fairmount patrons can bet on any or all of the 11 local races as well as any or all of the races simulcast from Churchill Downs.

A champagne buffet will kick off the day in the Black Stallion Room. That event is sold out.

Sports

Reader takes role as leader

Reader puts in plenty of work to keep her offensive skills sharp. "I go to the batting cages pretty much every day," Reader said. "And I work out at home sometimes and I swing the bat all the time. I'm the No. 4 hitter, so I have to do my job."

Reader is looked to by Germann and her teammates for leadership on the diamond. "As a catcher, she pretty much has to be a team leader," Germann said. "You have to keep the pitcher focused. Her freshman year, we had to talk a little bit about different things at different times of the game, like if we were out of sync and things weren't going right. Now she will just call timeout and settle the team down. I don't have a captain, per se. In 20 years of coaching, I never have elected captains because I think that is pretty much an individual thing. Everybody has to step up at some point in time, and rather than having certain people actually have those names, everybody takes care of business. But she steps up. If I looked to certain kids to do certain things, she would be one of them."

Reader's fitness and stamina will be tested this spring when Granite City finally gets to play some games and make up some postponed games.

"We are going to have a bunch of games coming up, nine in 10 days," Germann said. "You have to be in shape (to catch). Doing a single game in a night is no biggie. But when we play in that (Cahokia) tournament (May 7-8), if we play two or three games, it gets tough squinting up and down that many times. Last year, she caught for us the whole Cahokia Tournament, so that is saying that she is pretty gutsy too. She'll hang in there for you. And they'll take shots at you at home. You always have a play at home and home is a tough situation. She has hung in there. And to turn around and run the bases and focus on hitting, you get rattled a little bit, you get your bell rung, and it's tough to pop back up. It's not an easy thing to do. She does a nice job."

"I have the knee-saver things, so it's not as bad as last year," Reader said. "But I've also been running. I used to it pretty much."

All-star football

The 25th annual Illinois Coaches Association/Shrine All-Star Football Game will be Saturday, July 24 at Peoria Stadium.

Through the first 24 years of the game, more than $600,000 has been raised for the Shrine Hospitals and Burn Institutes. Metro East players selected include defensive linemen Mike Sharp (Cahokia) and Nathan York (Collinsville); linebacker Chris Whitaker (Althoff); offensive lineman Matt Schell (Edwardsville) and tight end John Wiemers (Edwardsville).

Tickets are $7 apiece and may be ordered from: All-Star Football, Box 1321, Bloomington, IL 61702-1331. For more information, call John Elder at (309) 482-5551.

Soccer registration

Registration for the Belle-Clair Soccer League will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on May 1 and May 8 at Belle-Clair Soccer Park, 2842 Centreville Ave. in Belleville.

The league is open to boys and girls ages 5-13 with birthdays that fall between Sept. 2, 1985 and Sept. 1, 1994.

For the first time, the BCSL is accepting 5-year-olds. This new division will consist of coed teams.

The registration fee is $45 for the first child in a family, $35 for the second child, $30 for the third child and $10 for each additional child.

For more information, call 235-2152.

Golf scramble

The Belleville Hilgards Post 58 American Legion baseball team is sponsoring a four-person scramble golf tournament on Sunday, May 16 at The Orchards in Belleville.

The cost is $85 per person (soft spikes only) and includes greens fees, carts, skins game, refreshments and dinner. Tee sponsor donations are $50 and the cost for dinner only is $7.50.

happy with the fact that we did have a few top performances with high points and we complemented that with many other places as far as lower points in other events.

"The scoring ended up really nicely. We certainly were one of the top teams at the meet. That was apparent not only to our coaching staff but to spectators and coaches from other schools as well. Both Monday and Tuesday, we got multiple compliments about how well our athletes were performing and we feel the same."

The Granite City boys have seen a resurgence in recent meets.

"We still have a long way to go as far as qualifying for state, but we are on the right track," Briggs said. "We are getting it done and we will continue to work hard and maybe improve. "In the Tiger Relays last week, we performed well. The Freshman Invitational, we were outstanding, so it really is just a pattern we are creating and we are continuing. So I don't know that we are really climbing a hill yet. This was definitely a high spot in point totals — I don't know that we have accumulated this many points in any meet in the past few years. So it certainly was a great effort. We would have loved to have been the county champion. We can't say that we are where we want to be yet, but we are certainly doing the things we are supposed to do and the improvement is showing."

"So between turning a corner and just consistently getting better, I would like to say we are consistently improving."

of their successful season.

"It was a great team effort," Briggs said. "Eighteen places out of 18 events, a great team score. We are certainly headed in the right direction. We know that we still have room to improve our performances. We surely have not qualified at any events for state yet, we have to do that at the sectional meet (May 14), but in the time we have left to prepare for sectionals and the quality of the performances that we currently have, we are encouraged and we certainly feel pretty good about what we are doing with the girls program right now."

Granite City is scheduled to run in the Collinsville Invitational on Saturday at 10 a.m.

Castro-Neves, Unser Jr. practice at Gateway

Brazilian driver turns quickest lap of day; Unser Jr. continues comeback from ankle injury

Special to the Press-Record

Helio Castro-Neves, benefitting from two days of testing last month, was the quickest driver during a rain-shortened day of testing at Gateway International on Monday.

AUTO RACING

Al Unser Jr. got in a brief but important round of work preparing for the third annual Motorola 300 on May 30.

Castro-Neves, a talented young Brazilian who joined St. Louis-based Hogan Racing this year, piloted his Mercedes-Lola to a lap of 26.05 seconds, best among the seven drivers who worked out for about four hours after morning and mid-day rains let up.

"We had two good days here last month (before the CART FedEx Championship Series season opener at Homestead, Fla.), so we're more prepared for this oval," Castro-Neves said. "We could have been better, but we were able to get what we could out of the day."

Team manager Peter Scott said, "With that big a jump, we should be quicker, but that's a talented young kid we've got in the cockpit. Very, very talented."

Unser Jr., meanwhile, took his first tentative steps toward returning to the FedEx trail at Gateway, running 45 minutes in his Marlboro Mercedes-Penske. It was his first time back in the car since suffering a broken right ankle on a first-lap crash at Homestead.

Unser Jr. could be behind the wheel Sunday during the Bosch Spark Plugs Grand Prix at Nazareth, Pa. He said he was not sure if the pace set by Neves' fast lap, but everyone was smiling in the Penske camp, including Unser.

"It went pretty well," Unser said. "The ankle's sore, and I've got to ice it now. But I felt good in the car and did the things I wanted to do."

The veteran former PPG Cup champion from Albuquerque, N.M., has endured a difficult year. In February, his 12-year-old daughter, Cody, was left paralyzed by transverse myelitis, a non-specific condition that involves part of the spinal cord and produces some inflammation. The precise cause is infrequently identified.

"It's been tough missing races. I've never done that in my career," said Unser, who broke an ankle years ago and was back in 10 days. "It's tougher to be away from Cody. We spent time together at Easter and that helped me a lot," said Unser, who also is going through a divorce. "I talk to her every day, and a few days ago there was movement in one of her toes. That's a very hopeful sign."

Rick Mears, a former PPG Cup champion and advisor to Team Penske, came back from serious foot and leg injuries and knows what Unser is going through.

"It's painful," Mears said. "It's tough to come back and there are a lot of things in his life that are hard right now. But this (pointing to the cockpit of the car) is therapy. This is where you get away from it all, and focus everything you have on one thing. It makes it easier."

Right behind Castro-Neves was Brazilian Gil deFerran, who finished third in the Motorola 300 in 1997 but struggled to a sixth-place finish last year in the Walker Racing Valvoline/Cummins Honda Reynard.

DeFerran, tied for second in the CART points chase after three events this season, said, "Today was a short day, but a good day. We made some adjustments that really worked, and you have to work on this track. It is a hard, hard oval to race because of the two different sets of turns. You are always challenged here. But it will also help us this weekend for Nazareth."

Castro-Neves, Unser, deFerran and four other drivers — Richie Hearn (Della Penna/Budweiser), Mauricio Gugelmin (PacWest/Hollywood/Motorola), Alex Barron (All-American Racers/Castrol) and rookie Cristiano da Matta (Arceiro-Wells/MCI/Worldcom) — were back at Gateway on Tuesday to finish testing before they head to the weekend test at the one-mile Nazareth Speedway.

The CART circuit comes to Gateway on Thursday, May 27, for a day of practice. Qualifying is Friday, May 28, and the third annual Motorola 300 begins 2 p.m. Saturday, May 29.

Tickets for the Motorola 300, and all of Gateway's "Prime Time '99" events are available at the Gateway ticket office, or by calling 1-888-82-SPEED.

GC celebrates Christmas in April

Granite City School Superintendent Steve Balen is usually seen wearing a tie.

On Saturday, Balen looked more like a carpenter than a superintendent as he volunteered his services for the Christmas in April campaign.

Wearing a carpentry belt and an old pair of pants, he, Prather Assistant Principal Jim Parker, Assistant Director of Data Processing Lou Short and other administrators rehabbed a home in the 2700 block of Myrtle.

"It's a good project," Balen said. "It's a good way for the administration to come together to show their support for the community."

Under sunny skies, they installed guttering, fixed several windows and constructed a handicap-accessible ramp. The crew worked tirelessly for about eight hours.

Joseph and Pauline Rayoun own the rehabbed home. Joseph Rayoun, 61, said without their help, the repairs would not have been made.

"I can't do that stuff any more," Joseph said. "I couldn't put up the ramp. This is a blessing."

In the 1900 block of Joy, volunteers from Granite City Board of Relators were hard at work rehabbing a home owned by Margie Smith. The crew, with the help of volunteers from Scott Air Force Base, constructed a handicap-accessible ramp, installed a door and provided general cleaning.

Jim McCart, house captain, said the event was worth a day's work because of the satisfaction involved.

"A lot of these guys will go home tired, but they'll be satisfied knowing they've made this house more comfortable for the owner," McCart said.

Smith, who has resided there since 1952, said the volunteers were like her guardian angels.

"I still can't believe I was chosen. It's like they came from above to help me," Smith said.

A hop, skip and jump from Smith's home, in the 2400 block of Wilson, volunteers from Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 were busy performing another face-lift. They constructed a handicap-accessible ramp and small a small ramp, installed a door and tore down a shed.

Dave Copper, house captain, said the shed took most of the morning to complete. "That was hard work. We've taken two truck loads of junk away," Copper said.

Arthur and Janet Oberle, owners of the dwelling, praised the volunteers for their time and energy.

"They're wonderful people," Arthur Oberle said.

Janet added, "I could never thank them enough. They're very kind."

While most people worked in jeans or old clothing, one gentleman, who went from house to house, wore a suit.

He's known as Santa Claus. Santa said he came to town to give support and wish everyone the best.

"This involves good people for a good cause. That's what it's all about," the jolly old man said.

Butterflies, other creatures find homes in backyard habitat

By Barbara Ponder
Correspondent

Kraig Paradise had been living in his home in north St. Louis County less than a year when bulldozers devoured a large wooded area nearby, clearing it for humans but evicting hundreds of flying and crawling inhabitants.

Birds gathered on the fence in Paradise's backyard.

"They were sort of looking forlornly toward where their homes used to be," Paradise recalled. "And I got busy. I was out there rescuing box turtles and moving garden snakes."

Paradise eventually created a garden-filled haven in his yard for birds and other creatures. Then, about five years ago, he caught the butterfly bug and his gardening began to reflect a new attitude.

To attract butterflies, Paradise plants native wildflowers, including asters, cone flowers and blazing stars. He mixes in a few cultivated plants, like the butterfly bush, as well.

"Zinnias are a fabulous flower to have for butterflies," he said. "I recommend that to anybody who wants to start, along with some of those wildflowers."

Butterflies lay their eggs on "food" plants, which the caterpillars eat after hatching from eggs.

Among the food plants Paradise uses are wild cherry trees for red spotted purple butterflies and milkweed for monarchs. Brush piles provide homes for butterflies that stay through the winter.

"It's amazing that they can survive through the wintertime," Paradise said. "They find little crevices and nooks and crannies and try to stay warm."

Paradise devotes about 11 hours weekly to maintaining the habitat.

"I've got a lot here," he said. "This shouldn't overwhelm people. Just a little area of flowers would attract butterflies or bees or various insects."

Country music fans flock to Wild Country

Nightclub hosts weekly TV dance show

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

"St. Louis Country" is not in St. Louis at all — it's in Collinsville.

When officials from country radio station WIL were looking for a new home for their country line-dancing TV show, they found it at Wild Country, near the Collinsville Convention Center, just off Interstate 55/70 and Illinois 157.

Wild Country is a country music fan's dream, with a huge dance floor, promenade in the center, a large stage for live bands on the weekend, a 20-foot video screen and a 16-screen video wall, and two separate sound systems pumping country hits from speakers all over the two-story facility.

The Major family of Collinsville has owned the business for almost four years. They are all tight-lipped about their ages, but dad Hugh, and mom Patricia run the place, with the help of their three sons, Mike, Patrick and Russel.

Hugh Major is proud of all the technical innovations they have added to the club.

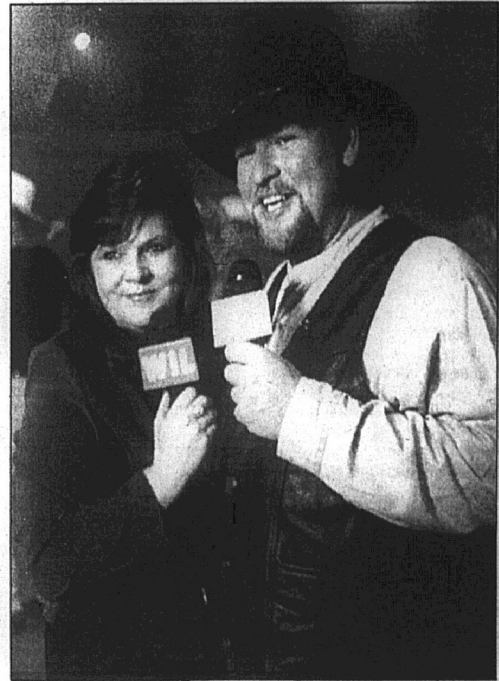

"We're the only club in the area that can play a (music) video and do it justice," he said.

The eldest of the three sons, Mike, points out some of the eight video cameras used when live bands are on stage.

"We can make it look like a music video as the band is playing," he said. "We even have a transmitter that the band leader wears, and a camera on the floor follows him everywhere he goes."

Mike said there are more than 5,000 feet of video cable strung throughout the place. "And

Wild Country draws country fans

I did that all myself," he said. "We're kind of techno-heads."

The club also has enough recording equipment to "burn" its own compact disks for the bands that perform, and its own radio commercials are recorded there, Mike said.

The club has a capacity of 1,500 people and is open from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tuesday through Thursday, and on Sunday. On Friday and Saturday it is open from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Line dancing lessons are taught on Wednesdays and Sundays, and Sunday is called family day. All ages are admitted, as long as minors are accompanied by a parent; free chili dogs are offered all day.

When WIL 92-FM is filming its television program, the crowd shows up early to find out the dance list from the dance instructor. The Majors put together the play-list and fax it to WIL for approval. The show includes the top-ten country video countdown and eight dance songs.

"It's a top-rated show in its time slot," Mike said. "They're coming up on the 250th show."

Last week, WIL on-air personalities Debbie Conner and Bo Matthews hosted the TV show. They rotate with four other DJs, taking turns to hosting. Matthews has been with WIL for 11 years.

Conner and Matthews start filming the "stand-ups" at 8 p.m. and finish around 9:30. Then the youngest of the Major brothers, Russ, takes over in the DJ booth to play the song-list and announce the dances, as customers fill the dance floor.

The dancers come in all shapes and sizes, and all ages. Some look the part, while others look no different than anyone off the street. There are young couples, older couples, groups of single young women and a few single guys.

About half the crowd wear cowboy hats and boots. You can also spot more modern western wear like tight black pants and a sequined tube-top or the customary vest and string tie. One stand-out dancer is a woman with long blonde hair wearing a hot-pink cowboy hat, a black shirt with sequins, hot-pink skirt and black boots.

Joyce Warren, 45, of Troy, is the dance instructor at Wild Country. She has been teaching country line-dancing since the place opened. "I've been teaching 20 years next month," she said.

"I used to teach all kinds of dance," she said. "My husband was in the military, and when we went to Germany, they asked me to teach."

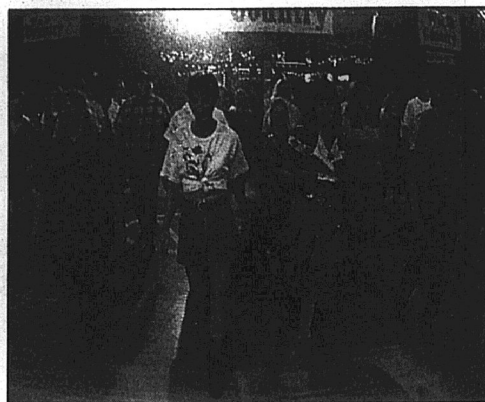

"I got such a response from the line-dancing that I never went back to the ballroom stuff," Warren said.

She enjoys teaching dance at Wild Country. "It's great to see the younger ones trying it all and trying to catch up," she said. "For a while you didn't see younger ones coming out. Now it's picked up, and you see the under-20 crowd."

"It's great," Warren said. Steve and Debbi Gill of south St. Louis County come to Wild Country every Thursday night. Steve said, "We come over here because it's a lot of nice people — it's a family atmosphere."

"We come here to exercise and socialize," Debbi added. "I dragged him kicking and screaming, now he comes even when I'm not around."

The club is too small to make live concerts by the big names in country music profitable, Mike said. But local bands perform each weekend, including the house band, The Rockin' Horse Band. Younger brothers Patrick and Russel are key elements of the band. Russel is the keyboard player, while Patrick does lead vocals for the band.

Patricia Major is proud of her sons' band. "Last year the Rockin' Horse Band opened at Riverport for the Dixie Chicks, Jodee Masina and Joe Diffy," she said.

Wild Country is truly a family affair, and the Major family truly enjoys the business.

"We used to have a trucking business," Mike said. "But my brothers in the band were acquainted with this facility, and when it became available, we got it," he said.

They got "St. Louis Country" shortly after opening. "The club that was doing it went out of business," Mike said. "We had already approached WIL, but they were under contract, so they couldn't come here."

"One day, they showed up, and the doors were locked, so they called us," Mike said.

And the rest, as they say in show business, is history.

Fiesta celebrates Cinco de Mayo

Mexican Honorary Commission sponsors program

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

Las Alasanas, Marcha de Soldados and Las Espuelas. These are just a few of the traditional Mexican dances that will be performed by children and teenagers during a dance program Saturday night. The program is part of Granite City's Mexican Honorary Commission's Cinco De Mayo celebration.

The fiesta will be held at the AMVET Hall, 1711 Kennedy Drive in Madison. Doors open at 6:30 p.m., followed by the dance program at 7.

The band Fantasia, featuring salsa and traditional Mexican music, will entertain until 12:30 a.m. Tickets are $7. Rhonda Wilkinson, who teaches traditional Mexican dancing, said that the Jesuita en Chihuahua is a Mexican polka that will be performed by children, ages 8 to 10.

Las Alasanas, she said, will be performed by young women, ages 13 to 15. The dance is a leg-kicking, skirt-flipping dance.

Wilkinson also said that the Mexican Hat Dance, in which people hoop and holler and throw coins in the direction of the dancers, is a favorite among Hispanic communities and will be performed at the end of the celebration.

Wilkinson went on to say that the children in the program are looking forward to their performances.

"We will have a rehearsal Friday night," Wilkinson said. "The kids are excited and eager to dance."

Shirley Valencia, who has been associated with the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City for 30 years, said the dancing and festive atmosphere is enjoyed by people of all ages.

"It's tons of fun for everybody. Cinco de Mayo means a lot to the Hispanic community," she said.

Cinco de Mayo is celebrated in Hispanic communities because it marks a victory in which Mexican guerrilla forces successfully defended their positions against French forces in the Battle of Puebla on May 5, 1862.

The battle has become known as Cinco de Mayo and has been celebrated across the United States by Mexican Americans in the way of parades and mariachi and folklore music.

Cinco de Mayo parade is Sunday

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

Cinco de Mayo is going strong on St. Louis' South Side. Last year, Alfredo Otero put together the first Cinco de Mayo celebration along Cherokee Street. He said the 1999 festival, scheduled for Sunday, May 2, should be much larger.

Otero, a local businessman, said organizers are scheduling three times as many floats to go along with mariachi bands, food from local Mexican restaurants, games, rides, face painting and more.

The parade here begins at noon at Gravois and Texas avenues, then proceeds south on Texas to Cherokee and west on Cherokee to California Avenue.

To Otero's surprise, about 3,000 people attended last year's Cinco de Mayo, also scheduled on a Sunday.

"Because it was the first one, I didn't know how many people to expect," Otero said. "We just put it together in a couple of months."

Because St. Louis lacks traditional Mexican neighborhoods but has a growing Mexican population, Otero said it is important to conduct a Cinco de Mayo celebration here.

"The Hispanic community is in many places; this is one of the only times for people to get together," said Otero, the owner of Mexicana Western Wear, 2714 Cherokee St.

Just as the non-Irish celebrate St. Patrick's Day, though, non-Mexicans also celebrate Cinco de Mayo.

"This is for everyone," Arturo said. "We try to make this a good event for families."

Cinco de Mayo commemorates the Battle of Puebla. In 1862, greatly outnumbered Mexican soldiers defeated French forces in the village of Puebla.

"I hope people learn that this is something that people celebrate for a reason," said Pandy Trujillo, who is leading the organization efforts this year.

Mexican-Americans celebrate Cinco de Mayo even more than Mexican citizens, said Otero, a one-time resident of Durango, Mexico.

"They have parades there, but it's not like it is in some cities in the United States," Otero said.

Cartoonists among most creative

Glenn McCoy's 'Duplex' one of best of current strips

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

The names Berke Breathed and Bill Watterson may not mean anything to you, but I believe they belong to two of the most creative minds of our time.

Breathed and Watterson are cartoonists. More accurately, they are retired cartoonists. Breathed produced "Bloom County" and "Outland" and Watterson did "Calvin and Hobbes." Both authors created comic strips that made me laugh on a regular basis with insightful, often hilarious, social commentary.

Life in the comics world goes on, however, and I still follow a number of strips. One of the best of the current lot is "The Duplex," by Glenn McCoy, who is from Belleville. McCoy's main character, Eno El Camino, is a lovable loser with few redeeming qualities, which makes him a perfect centerpiece for the jokes.

I also make a point every day to read "Shoe," by Jeff MacNelly and "Mother Goose and Grimm," by Mike Peters. MacNelly and Peters both are acclaimed political cartoonists who are able to let more of their light-hearted sides out through their comic strips.

Peters is the son of the late Charlotte Peters, who had her own local television talk show in St. Louis for years. I was fortunate to interview Mike a number of years ago and he was great to me.

I also am fond of "Dilbert," by Scott Adams. Anyone who has spent time working out of a cubicle should get chuckles out of Adams' observations. In addition, I've started to pay attention to "Fox Trot," by Bill Amend. His Jason is a little punk, much to my delight.

This week's trivia quiz is on comic strips.

1. From "Bloom County," what name did the punk band Deathtongue change to after appearing before a special Senate hearing on controversial rock music lyrics?

2. Miss Buxley and Otto the dog are characters from which strip?

3. What is the name of the little girl Calvin often terrorized in "Calvin and Hobbes"?

4. What is the name of the baby in "The Family Circus"?

5. Ed Dodd and Jack Elrod produce what strip that deals with nature?

6. Which character has the biggest nose in "The Wizard of ID"?

7. What are the names of Blondie and Dagwood's two children in "Blondie"?

8. What is Ralph Drabble's occupation in "Drabble"?

9. Which "Peanuts" character is always shown holding a blanket?

10. What is the name of the larger of the two cats in "Mother Goose and Grimm"?

ANSWERS: 1. Billy and the Boingers. This strip was almost always a hoot. I loved the Bill the Cat character. 2. "Beetle Bailey." 3. Susie. 4. P.J. I realize this is a wildy popular strip, but I have no idea why. 5. "Mark Trail," another cartoon that does nothing for me. 6. The cowardly Sir Rodney. 7. Cookie and Alexander. 8. He is a mail security guard. 9. Linus. 10. Sumo. The smaller cat is named Attila.

I will host the following upcoming trivia events:

Kiwanis Club Trivia at Kirkwood Community Center on Saturday, May 1, call 414-0916; Crestwood Demolay Trivia at Webster Groves Masonic Temple on Saturday, May 15, call 631-8476.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Entertainment and Trivia Show" at 10 p.m. Sundays on KMOX Radio (1120 AM).

Meisel's collection goes public

DeMenil Mansion to display 1904 World's Fair memorabilia

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

Joseph Meisel's collection of 1904 World's Fair memorabilia is going public.

Beginning Friday, visitors to the DeMenil Mansion and Museum, 3352 DeMenil Place, can see all 1,200 pieces from the fair that Meisel collected through the decades.

The objects on display will include glassware, hand-painted jewelry boxes, vases, china, pewter napkin rings, mother of pearl purses, fans, spun-glass walking sticks and more.

Marcia Grass, executive director of the DeMenil, said Meisel's daughter, Pat McBride, agreed to donate all the memorabilia to the mansion. Meisel, a longtime Red Cross volunteer, died in 1988.

"My father had always hoped that someday his World's Fair collection would be preserved and shared with all of St. Louis," McBride said.

The collection astounded Grass, who examined it at McBride's house.

"It's not just spoons or one particular kind of souvenir," she said. "It's a great mix."

The museum still needed a place for the pieces, though, and decided on the third-floor attic. Once a storage area, museum workers are cleaning the room and putting the World's Fair pieces inside glass cases.

The high ceilings and wooden floors should make an attractive new home for the collection, Grass said. The museum is a ideal spot for these pieces, she said.

Alexander DeMenil was one of the World's Fair's directors.

Visitors can see the collection while touring the house, which is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The last tour starts at 3:15. Admission price is $4 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

The April 30 grand opening will include a fashion show featuring turn-of-the-century clothing and Scott Joplin's ragtime music. Cost is a suggested donation of $15. Reservations are required.

Horoscope

Thursday, April 29

Relationships continue to pull your focus away. In fact, it may be difficult to concentrate at work. A mysterious astro-climate takes hold midday when the moon sinks into the sexy sign of Scorpio. Be careful not to jump to conclusions, as it's easy to become paranoid. If you resolve to be patient and lighten up, the confusion will pass.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 29) Your focus must be on high goals, not normal ones. Think big, and you get bonuses, raises and promotions in the next five weeks. A foe — at work or in your community — leaves the scene in June. You are victorious in winning the heart of a special one. August brings competitions, so go for what you want. Your best signs for love are Cancer and Virgo.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Others are drawn to you because you have the ability to change what everyone thinks is written in stone. Investigate discrepancies instead of accepting the status quo. Privacy is important to your process of setting goals.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Why procrastinate if you can mend a situation now? Provide a pal with access to important information. Take an interest in a lover's family. Unwind in good company tonight. You're a 10, according to an Aries.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) What others perceive as a setback does not interfere with your creativity or productivity. You are bursting with ideas. There's luck with romance tonight. Your wallet is full, too, so splurge on a date.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) Avoid resting on your laurels; continue to work and improve. A child's love gives you confidence and much-needed hope. A family member carries on a tradition. Make a forceful statement about a cause dear to you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unorthodox methods win you recognition and perhaps a promotion. Conquer self-consciousness, and let yourself shine. A potential lover finds you persuasive. Relatives may not be supportive of a new job.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your latest love interest finds you equally fascinating. Self-discipline on the job keeps money coming in. An objective party sheds light on a problem. Deal plainly with an uninvited guest. A Leo changes your focus.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A long-overdue letter or phone call finally arrives. Ask a lover for the time you need to make up your mind. A threat to job security is removed. Someone has made a promise he or she has no intention of keeping.

Horoscope

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Learn to respect a co-worker you have scorned. A casual acquaintance becomes a close platonic friend. Avoid jumping to conclusions on the job. A debt is paid; a financial burden lifted. Travel a short distance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Brilliance comes in the morning. In the afternoon, you may need to use logic to avoid getting angry. Your creativity wins admirers. Matchmaking helps you find new love. Admit a flaw. Follow the golden rule.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Taking on a new level of maturity is a spiritual climb that brings mega-abundance to your front door. A question of morals is answered honestly. Business deals have an unexpected twist.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It is increasingly important for you to strive for balance in all things. Don't confuse aesthetics with true beauty. A Leo or Scorpio could fight for your attention.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Social vibes are favorable, so dine and dance your way to freedom. You are the most fondly mentioned in your circle, so don't doubt your positive influence.
